Why entertain this loath-some disease when relief can be obtained? Selected Poetry.

THE OLD YEAR. We have closed the book and laid it by, And ever thus must its pages lie; We can not unclasp the lids again, Nor write its record with brighter pen, Ah! many the lines we would retrace-And many the strains we would erase-But the time has fled from us away, We cannot recall a single day.

Our lives have no backward paths to tread; The words we utter are ne'er unsaid; We never can dream the self-same dream, Nor reverse the onward flowing stream.

Oh! then let us each in meekness now Before our Maker in Heaven bow, And pardon ask for every sin, Which the closed book doth hold within.

And when another again we ope, With its pure white pages full of hope, May we look to Him and humbly pray For strength to keep it as pure each day.

Farmers Department. HORSES THAT OVERREACH.

I believe there are but few blacksmiths that know how to shoe horses that overreach, and some that do not seem willing to learn. Others think again that there is no better remedy than making the shoes shorter, and placing the forward one on the toe, and the hinder one on the heel PAPER COLLARS & CUFFS, of the horse. They need to understand that there is a better way, and horse owners should make note of it. A Western correspondent gives the following rule, which I think is a very good one : Make the forward shoe long, and the toe-calks short and standing a little under, and set down. them as far back as convenient, in order to let the feet roll over as soon as possible, to get out of the way. And in setting the shoes on the hind feet, reverse the order to keep them back, to give time for the forward feet to get out of the way. Make the toe-calks high, and the halfcalks low, to keep the feet back, then he will travel like other horses. This may be remedied in part of the mode of paring the hoof. This is essential in all cases, and where too many horses have been made cripples. Great pains should be taken at all times in shoeing horses, and I believe not too many of our blacksmiths fully understand making the shoe and paring the hoof .- Prairie Farmer.

BRAHMA FOWLS.

A correspondent says an experience of five years in keeping this breed of fowls, 1. The knowledge that these fowls are unequalled, as winter layers. 2. That their eggs average larger and richer than those of any other breed. 3. Their home-like domestic qualities qualify them for confinement in small yards, which with little or no disposition to roam, make them a desirable fowl for cities or villages. 4. Their superior quality for the table cannot be denied Kill and pick one, CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS and you will have something that will do for a meal for a fair sized family. One will weigh as much as two common fowls and oftentimes more.

5. Their chickens are hardy, easily raised, and grow rapidly, and last of all, class Custom Made Garments, for a fair price, are they are fine, hands me looking fowls, respectfully invited to call. such as a man can take pride in showing to his friends.

"What! have you no servants?" "Yes," he replied, "we have two servants who keep the house and board us, but we are allowed few privileges."

"My dear Ellen," said a young man, addressing his heart's beloved.

Santa Claus at New Years.

One winter night long years age.

A sharper night was herer seen,)

Old Santa Claus with empty pack

Towards his home was going back.

He'd travelled many a weary mile,

O'er hill and dale o'er town and stile,

He'd gone into the cottage small,

He'd been in gorgeous city hall,

Going down by the chimney tops,

And entering each silent room

He'd made I think a million stops,

And that he'd nothing more to do,

Buttoned hi- coat up all complete,

Re lit his pipe, got in his sleigh,

And very soon was on his way; His reindeers flow at rapid pace,

When all at once they gave a hop,

But finding he was not obeyed.

And brought up with a su den stop.

He looked around and oh my stars !

What do you think the matter was ?

Well there were children by the score,

Some of them rich - some of them poor-

Some of them young-some of them old-

Some of them fat-some of them lean-

Some of them dirty-and some clean-

" Now what in thunder do you want ?

'Specially after the work I've done."

Down his cheek, on his beard did roll,

For Santa's heart is large and warm,

He'd no more do a child a harm,

Than eat his head and whiskers too,

Which you all know he couldn't do,

Old Santa both could be and would.

And so we came to meet you here,

I've given everything I had,

So the children, who knew how good

We don't know what the reason was .-

To tell you so." " My children, dear,

You didn't get anything, its too bad,

But if you'll wait till New Year's day,

I'il come again around your way,

So now good bye to all of you."

He shook his reins and in a trice,

Up in the clear cool winter sky,

Rested with all his labors o'er.

Old Santa fills again his eleigh,

And if he finds a child inside

And bring some toys and candy too,

Was moving towards his home of ice;

And when the sun was shining high,

Pear Santa in his home once more,

And ever since on New Year's day,

Over the house tops flies once more,

Stopping at every little one's door;

Without a gift, takes from his side,

Or from his pockets deep and wide,

Through the air in his furry sleigh;

He's always glad to come and see,

He promised to be here to night,

He must be near or else in sight,

Or perhaps he's hid-so keep still,

Hush ! don't stir ! not a bit of noise !

Keep still there all you girls and boys,

Yes, here he comes-I thought it was .-

soda; salt and spice to suit the taste.

I hope it will not make him sick!"

You men and women stop your talk,

I think t hear old Santa's walk .-

If I can call him is I will.

And when folks have a New Year's tree,

Which holds a lot for more beside,

A gift for the child-then away

We didn't get nothing at Christmas : so We thought, perhaps, you'd like to know,

Spoke out loud -- " If you please, dear Claus,

Though he spoke rough, a tear drop stole

Be let alone on my homeward run,

An eager but yet orderly lot.

Its really a play if I can't .

Some were pretty-and some were not-

With pleading eyes and outstretched hands,-

Some wrapped up warm-some shook with cold-

"Get up you beasts," old Santa said,

And so he wrapped up warm his feet,

You'd thought they had been on a race.

Mile after mile their home they sought,

(Old Santa Claus was deep in thought,)

(His bright eyes lighting up the gloom,)

From his long pockets stuffed with care,

He'd fi'led each stocking hanging there,

And now he thought his work was through,

The air was cold, the wind was keen,

(The ground was covered white with snow,

Selected Poetry.

The Tenants of the Heart have Moved Away

Moved away? Oh, no! they've only Cast aside the clothes they wore, And in purer robes, and saintlier, They are with us as before.

Only that our spirit's vision, Dimmed by scenes of earth so long, Can not grasp at once the glory That enfolds the heavenly throng.

But by holy, sweet emotions, That our heart-strings wildly thrill, Know we that our soul's dear kindred Are not lost-but near us still-

Near, to whisper hope in sorrow; Near, to comfort in despair; Near to strengthen in temptation ; Near, our sweetest joys to share.

Oh! the heaven we fondly cherish Can not be so far above That no spirit-message ever Comes to us from those we love.

Not in words of human weakness, Not in sounds for human ears, But in strains the spirit singeth, And the spirit, only, hears.

Farmers' Department. PRUNING.

For the removal of small limbs from young trees hardly any time can come amiss. It were better to do it out of season than to neglect it. And it is a good rule to have a sharp pruning knife always at hand, when passing among our young orchard trees. There is but one time when pruning should be absolutely place of business is now interdicted, and that is at the time that the wood is frozen. When so circumstanced, it should never, on any account, be cut or handled in any manner, not even to gratify your best friend by helping him to a few grafts from your tested tree rather than commit such an outrage upon your tree as to approach it when frozen. While considering the question of the proper time for pruning there is an axiom of great importance, which should be firmly impressed upon the mind of the orchardist : much will depend upon which of the two leading objects he may have in view-vigor of growth and symmetry of form, or simply fruitfulness, as the results of his labor in pruning trees. Pruning at one season will induce the former effeet; at a different period of the year, the e to the latter results. Hence, the value of this postulate, which is pithy and easily remembered, prune in winter for wood-in summer for fruit.-Dr. Warder.

SALT FOR CATTLE.

Strange as it-may seem, it lms been contended by some agricultural presses that salt is of no benefit to animal econo- give all a Good Bargain. my. I have seen a cow die from eating too much salt after she had been a long time kept from it; this is at least prima faciae evidence that regular salting is necessary both for the needs of the animal, and to prevent such accidents. The sea air being so pregnated with salt that cattle in the island and near the coast will eat it. But although chloride of sodium is found in all plants, there is not enough of it to supply the animals that feeds on them; hence we often see young cattle so hungry for salt that they lick the concentrated ashes of burnt wood for the trace of salt it contains. As salt is given off from the animals system thro' the pores of the skin and the excretory organs, there can be no doubt but that it conduces to animal health.

The Royal Academy of Science in Paris have obtained abundant proofs to show the great advantage of salt, both as a manure for crops and to promote the digestion and health of farm stock. It is shown that salt contributes to the nourishment of their food, and that no ill consequences follow when they have constant access to it .- Exchange.

The soul of humanity yet will prevail, While they who their conscience with alcohol swallow, Will fatten our grave yard or people our jail.

Stand fast by your flag and be ready for battle, 'Tis often the darkest time just before day; We've triumph'd o'er Slav'ry and free'd the poor And now at Old Alcoh, boys, on to the fray.

A DDRESS TO THE NERVOUS AND DEBILITATED whose sufferings have been protracted from hidden DDRESS TO THE NERVOUS AND DEBILITATED whose sufferings have been protracted from hidden causes, and whose cases require prompt treatment to render existence desirable. If you are suffering or have suffered from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpitation of the heart? Does your liver, or urinary organs, or your kidneys, frequently get out of order? Is your urine thick, milky, or flocky, or is it ropy on settling? Or does a thick scum rise to the top?

Or is a sediment at the bottom after it has stood awhile?
Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting or rushes of blood to the head? is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling upon this subject? Do you feel dull, listless, moping, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be left alone, to get away from everybody? Does any fittle thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the lustre of your eye as brilliant? The bloom on your check as bright? Do you erjoy yourself in society as well? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and dagging, given to fits of melancholy?
If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia. Have your restless nights? Your back weak, your knees weak, and have but little appetite, and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver compilaint?

Chronic Catarrh usually affects the Also, another case of Men's Arctic head, fauces and bronchial tubes. It is invariably caused by humoral or inflammatory blood, by which the muceus membrane is made sore or inflamed, producing a copious effusion of viscid matter. LITTLE CHILDREN.

Cherubs of this world of changes ! Sweetly budding charms of time? Love's true alchemists of gladness, Turning tasks to golden rhyme :

Music like the brooklet's babble, Round the shining stepping stones Y air dear footsteps soothing patter Mingles with your gleeful tones.

Rays of brighter realms beam ever In the homes where children dwell-Lighting up the genial bearth stone

With a joy no heart can tell!

Oh! these babes of ble-sing lead us By the hand to hallowed scenes-Even as our Saviour taught them, And we're blest by these mild means.

Heavenly Father! teach our conscience Well to weigh the gifts of grace, That our feet may falter never, While we haste to seek thy face; With these dear and guileless children, Walking trustful at our side, Lead us, Lord ! the way of wisdom,

Up to where thou dost abide

TAKE THE PAPERS. BY N. P. WILLIS. Why don't you take the papers ? They're the life of my delight:

Subscribe! you cannot leose a cent, Why should you be afraid? For cash thus paid is sey lent At interest four-fold paid.

You'll live until you're gray. An old neighbor of mine While dying with a cough, Desired to hear the latest news When he was going off.

I took the paper and I read Of some new pills in force : He bought a box- and he is dead ! No- hearty as a horse. I knew two men, as much alike As e'er you saw two stumps,

And no phrenologist could find,

The other took no paper, and

A difference in their bumps. One takes the papers, and his life Is happier than a king's. His children all can read and write, And talk of men and things.

And killed him-" very good." Had he been reading of the news, At home like neighbor Jim, I'll bet a cent that accident Would not have happened him. Why don't you take the papers?

Nor from the printer sneak,

A paper every week.

Because you borrow from his boy

While strolling through the wood

A tree fell down and broke his crown

For he who takes the papers, And pays his bills when due; Can live in peace with God and man, And with the printer too.

Go, open wide the door, mother, And let the angels in : They are so bright and fair, mother,

So pure and free from sin, I hear them speak my name, mother, They softly whisper, "Come!" O, let the angels in, mother, . They've come to take the home.

I know that death has come, mother, His hand is on my brow; You cannot keep me here, mother-For I must leave you now. The room is growing dark, mother, I thought I heard you weep; 'Tis very sweet to die, mother,

I now must say farewell, mother, For I am going home, Now open wide the door, mother, And let the angels come! And let them bear me far away, Up to the world of love, The city where the angels stay,-The brighter world above.

In Oxygenized Air we have a positive cure for this disease. There's a jolly Saxon proverb That is pretty much like this, That a man is half in heaven When he has a girl to kiss; But there's danger in delaying-And the sweetness may forsake it; So I tell you bashful lover, If you want a kiss, why take it.

Never let another feller Steal a march on you in this; Never let a laughing maiden See you spoiling for a kiss; There's a royal way to kissing And the jolly ones who make it Have a mosto that is winning-If you want a kiss, why take it.

Any fool may face a cannon; Anybody wear a crown; But a man must win a woman If he'd have her for his own; Would have the golden apple, You must find the tree and shake it : If the thing is worth the having, And you want a kiss, why take it.

Who would burn upon a desert With a forest smiling by? Who would give his sunny summer For a bleak and wintry sky? Oh! I tell you there is magic, And you cannot, cannot break it, For the sweetest part of loving Is to want a kiss, and take it.

NEW YEAR'S BILLS.

Good gracious! wife, what have you here Paraded on the table, dear ? "Why, don't you know, it's New Year's Day, And, as you see, are bills to pay. " Bills ! fire and faggots, don't I pay The ready cash from day to day For everything we eat and wear? It is enough to make one swear To see the folly now-a-days Of women and their silly ways. Here is a bill (if I read right), To put an honest man to fright : Twenty dollars for a bonnet! " Cheap you may depend open it." Cheap! cheap! oh, hardship to endure, No wonder married men are poor; The bonnet my poor mother wore Was made for use, from country straw; It lasted her a good ten year, Cost three dollars, or very near; And when she died, poor woman she, 'Twas all she had to leave for me; I took the gift, and, on my life, Thought it would answer for my wife ; 'fis large enough, as you may see, It will cut up to make you three. What's this, a bill from Mr. Bates ? How rich he'll grow at these high rates; How could you run this thundering bill "Why! Simon Fidget, pray keep still, And not be harping all your life Upon your good and prudent wife; I wish you had the woman who You tried so very hard to woo; Then, sir, I think you might complain, And wish you had me back again," Stop your chatter !- Well ! have your fill, While I look o'er this cursed bill; What use had you for all this trash? Braids, cambric, hose, silk, pins, and crash, Ribbons, gloves, edgings, and whalebone, Such bills, would burst the heart of stone. O Lord ! another? the Doctor's bill ; Oh, jalap; what a bitter pill; This beats the rest quite hollow, Who's been sick ? I would like to know; "Why, darling Sis, poor Kate and Jo." Sick! keep them from that candy stuff; You'll find them always well enough. "You cruel man! If you are through, Some questions I would ask of you : What does it cost when you attend Your evening club, and treat a friend? Think of your wine, how very dear It costs full twenty pounds a year ; And then cigars, at ten cents each ! Reform yourself, before you preach.' Mrs. Fidget! are you scolding still; Will you stop ? I'll pay your bill,

My father's half bushel comes oft to my mind, And wakens deep feelings of various sorts : 'Twas an honest half bushel, a noble half-bushel; It held a half bushel of thirty two quarts.

When I think of that bushel-my father's half-bushel, That dear old half bushel so honest and true-Then look at the bushels-our city half-bushels, Little dandy haff bushels, it makes me feel blue,

Oh, my father's half bushel, that country half-bushel, Say when with blest vision its like shall I see ? Twas a blessed half-bushel, and he was a true man, For he filled his half-bushel, and something threw free!

Yet all the half bushels, if mean, are not small; I'm vexed with the big ones still more and more; Oh, mark out that ashman's next time he shall call; You see his half-bushel holds quarts sixty-four.

'Tis a fact I am stating-no slanders I utter-But who can forbear, when cheated, to mutter ? In New York a barrel-I pray you don't laugh-

Will not hold so much ashes as potatoes by half ! Oh, what are the lawyers, and what are the laws, What bugbears and phantoms-mere feathers or straws Unless our half-bushels are all made as one,

Like father's half-bushel, I say we're undone Farmers Department.

SUPER-PHOSPHATE Of Lime Triumphant.

No better proof of the superiority of my Super. hosphate over all others is needed than to know that the demand is beyond precedent.

TESTIMONIALS. From Rev. Henry Ward Beecher. BROOGLYN, N. Y., Jan. 27, 1868.

WM. L. BRADLET, Boston, Dear Sir: -- I used XL-super Phosphate. of your manufacture, during the spring and summer of 1867 with good effect. Its benefit was marked upon onions and carrots.

Melons and Cucumbers seemed to enjoy it. I applied it to my lawn, on grass with decided benefit. A second season's trial confirms the good opinion which I formed of it both for farm and garden crops. Please send to Mr. Turner a half ton for early use.

HENRY WARD BEECHER.

From Hon. Geo. B. Loring. Salem, Mass, Jan. 3, 1868.

Siz:—The Super Phosphate of Lime usel by me, of your manufacture, proved to be all I could expect or desire. I have used every variety, and found none which operated more effectually and permaneutly than yours.

Truly Yours, GEO B. LOKING.

From the Watchman & Reflector, Boston, We consider Bradley's XL Super-Phosphale of Lime as the best Fertilizer in the market.

From Elijah Wood, Esq., CONCORD, MASS. Feb. 8, 1858.

CONCORD, Mass. Feb. 8, 1858.

Ma. Bradlay—Dear Sir:—Your Super-Phosphate of 1867 has given general satisfaction in my neighborhood. I have used in the last ten years, more than twelve hondred dollars worth of the different fertilizers. Poulretts, Guano, Blood Masure, Bone in its different forms, and none of these compare with yours in their lasting benefits. I have two pieces of mowing ground where nothing else has been applied as a top dressing for many years, still the crops of grass (for I take off two every year) were good, much better than could have been expected. I raised as fine snap corn as to quality, as can be found in town, on an old plain that had had no manure fer forty years, to my certain knowledge, with three hundred pounds of your Phosphare to the acre, one half in the hill, the other half spread. I find nothing as a concentrated manure that compares with it.

From Wm. H. Hunt, Esq. President of the Farmers' Club.

CONCORD, Mass., Feb. 6, 1869. WM. I. BRADLEY, Esq.—Dear Sir:—I used your Super-Phosphate extensively the past season, on corn. with very satisfactory results. In September, 1866, I reseeded a field of two acres, with no other manure than your Superphosphate, at the rate of three hundred pounds to the phosphate, at the rate of three handred points to the acre. In order to satisfy myself whether I was throwing away my money, I left several strips without any. On these strips the grass seed came up poorly, it was not one-half so thick as on other parts of the field. All the fall and the next spring, the difference was perceptible as far as the field could be seen, and when I mowed it, I indiged the crop was less by one half on these strips. I was satisfied that I got well mad for using the Phosphate. sfied that I got well paid for using the Phosphare.
Yours truly WM. H. HUNT.

WISTAR'S BALSAM of WILD CHERRY Where this article is known it is a work of supererogation to say one word in its favor, so well is it established as an unfailing remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs, as well as that most dreaded of all diseases, Consumption, which high medical authority has pronounced to be a curable disease. Those who have used this remedy know its value; those who have not, have but to make a single trial to be sati-fied that of all others it is the remedy.

My wife has been so beterely troubled with a hard, dry cough, as to unfit her for the ordinary domestic duties of hife, and threatening hard to result in Confirmed Consumption. Nothing seemed to afford any permanent relief in the usual remedies resorted to; but with my advice she began the use of Wistar's Balsam, and with the most complete success, as a briumph of medicine over disease. A change was apparent to all, soon after commencing its use, and before using up the second bottle the cough had taken its depar using up the second bottle the cough had taken its departure. NO NIGHT IN HEAVEN.

No night shall be in Heaven! no gathering gloom Shall oe'r that glorious landscape ever come : No tears shall fall in sadness oe'r those flowers, That breathe their fragrance thro' celestial bowers. No night shall be in Heaven! no dreadful hour Of mental darkness, of the tempter's power-

Across these skies no envious cloud shall roll, To dim the sunlight of the raptured soul. No night shall be in Heaven. Forbid to sleep, These eyes no more their mournful vigils keep ; Their fountains dried-their tears all wiped away-

They gaze undazzled on eternal day. No night shall be in Heaven-no sorrow's reign ; No secret anguish, no corporeal pain; No shivering limbs, no burning fever there, No souls eclipse, no winter of despair.

No night shall be in Heaven, but endless noon; No fast declining sun, no waning moon ; But there the Lamb shall yield perpetual light, "Mid pastures green, and waters ever bright.

WM I., Brader, Beston, Dear Sir: —I used XI. Super-Phosphate, of your manufacture, during the spring and summer of 1867 with good effect. Its benefit was marked upon onions and carrots.

Melons and Cucumbers seemed to enjoy it. I applied it to my lawn, on grass with decided benefit. A second season's trial confirms the good opinion which I form's of it both for farm and garden crops. Please send to Mr. Turner a half ton for early use.

President of the Farmers' Club. CONCORD, Mass , Feb. 6, 1868. WM, I., BRADLEY, Esq -Dear Sir :- I used your Super osphate, at the rate of three hundred pounds to the acre. In order to satisfy myself whether I was throwing away my money, I left several strips without any. On these strips the grass seed came up poorly, it was not one-half so thick as on other parts of the field. All the fall and the next spring, the difference was perceptible as far as the field could be seen, and when I moved it, I suiged the crop was less by one half on these strips. I was satisfied that I got well paid for using the Phosphate.

When we gather in the twilight, And we sing the evening hymn, Then we miss a voice that's silent, And our eyes grow strangely dim; And we often pause to listen When we sing the sweet refrain, For we think that he is with us, And we hear his voice again.

When we linger by the hearthstone, And the good night words are said, Then we miss from out our number One who sleeps among the dead ; Still we feel that he is near us, Though we cannot see his face, When we look through tears that bind us To his old familiar place. *

Though our hearts are filled with sadness, Yet we feel a loyal pride, For he fell in Freedom's battle, And with Freedom's heroes died ; But we miss him at the twilight, And we miss him at the dawn, For our household band is broken, And a golden link is gone.

Mr. Quincy and Mr. Thomas were the first persons that crossed Neponset Bridge after its completion, in 1803, in a carriage. The elder portion of the citizens of Quincy will recollect Mr. Thomas as Toll-keeper of Neponset Bridgea position which he held for many years. For nearly a generation he was actively engaged in the arduous business of Slate quarrying in North Quincy, and was admonished to retire from the infirmities growing out of the evening years of life. Of an equable disposition, he experienced but little sickness through life, for his habits were regular and absteminous; the only passport to healthful old age. Mr. Thomas never held any public position, believing that the true path of honor was in private life. SONG OF IRON.

I am mighty in the sabre,
Fiercely wielded by the brave;
Glorious in the stalwart steamer,
Laughing at the storm and wave.

Beauteous in the palace pillars, Saving in the pointed rod, As it brings the deadly lightning Quelled and harmless to the sod. But there is a glorious essence, Where I take my grandest power, Giving to the Back my surest, Sweetest aid, in danger's hour. See ! before me fly diseases ! See the darkest hydras bow! See the rose of health and beauty Take the palest check and brow.

Fly, dyspepsia! fly, consumption! Yes, ali ills are crushed at length; For I give what human nature Only ever needed - SIRENGIH!

SUPER-PHOSPHATE Of Lime Triumphant.

No better proof of the sureriority of my Super-phosphate over all others is needed than to know that the demand is beyond precedent.

TESTIMONIALS. From Rev. Henry Ward Beecher. BROOELIN, N. Y., Jan. 27, 1868.

Melons and Cucumbers seemed to enjoy it. I applied it to my lawn, on grass with decided benefit. A second season's trial confirms the good opinion which I formed of it both for farm and garden crops. Please send to Mr.

HENRY WARD BEECHER. From Hon. Geo. B. Loring. Salem. Mass, Jan. 3, 1868.

From Elijah Wood, Esq., CONCORD, MASS.. Feb. 8, 1863. MR. BRADLEY-Dear Sir : - Your Super-Phosphate of 1867 has given general satisfaction in my neighborhood. Juano, Blood Maaure, Bone in its different forms, and have of these compare with yours in their lasting benefits. I have two pieces of mowing ground where nothing else has been applied as a top dressing for many years, still the crops of grass (for I take off two every year) were good, much better than could have been expected. I raised as fine snap corn as to quality, as can be found in town, on an old plain that had had no manure for forty years, to my certain knowledge, with three hundred pounds of your I'hosphate to the acre, one half in the hill, the other half spread. I find nothing as a concen hill, the other half spread. I make trated manure that compares with it. ELIJAH WOOD. From Wm. H. Hunt, Esq. President of the Farmers' Club. CONCORD, Mass., Feb. 6, 1868. WM. L. BRADLEY, Esq -Dear Sir :- I used your Super Phosphate extensively the past season, on corn, with very

Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources, and the health and happiness, and that of these sources, and the health and happiness, and that of these sources, and the health and happiness, and that of these sources, and the health and happiness, and that of the crop was less by one half on these strips. I was satisfied that 1 got well paid for using the Phosphate.

THE YOUNG WIDOW.

She is modest, but not bashful; Free and easy, but not bold; Like an apple-ripe and mellow ; Not too young and not too old. Half inviting, half repulsive; Now advancing, and now shy; There's mischief in her dimple, There is danger in her eye.

She has studied hor history She is schooled in all the arts; She has taken her diploma As the mistress of all hearts. She can tell the very moment When to sigh and when to smile; Oh, a maid is sometimes charming, But the widow all the while.

Are you sad? how very serious Will her handsome face become; Are you angry? she is wretched, Lonely, friendless, fearful, dumb; Are you mirthful? how her laughter, Silver sounding, will ring out; She can lure, and catch, and play you, As the angler does the trout.

You old bachelors of forty, Who have grown so bold and wise, Young Americans of twenty, With the lovelooks in your eyes, You may practice all your lessons Taught by Cupid since the fall, But I know a little widow

Near Scotlay's Building. IT IS GENERALLY UNDERSTOOD THAT TEA IS I retailed for a larger advance on its original cost than any other article in the long list of household stores, which may be accounted for by recollecting The Great Number and Immense Amount of Profits

Which accumulate on it between the cultivators in China and Japan and the consumers here, including the American Commission House there, the Importer, the Banker ican Commission House there, the Importer, the Banker who furnishes Kachange, the Brokers, the Middle Men or Speculators, the Wholesale Tea Dealer, the Wholesale Grocer,—each of whom makes large, and many of them enormous profits, from which it is evident that the consumer is compelled to pay many times the original cost for a Pure article, or forced to use an adulterated or inferior con-Experience and observation long since convinced the

be distributed among consumers at the nearest possible points to the original cost, their use would be so far extended as to become almost universal, the health and happiness of the nation increased, the use of fotoxicating happiness of the nation increased, the use of fotoxi ating drinks superceded, and the great object of Temperance advocates achieved.

With a view to accomplish this, the Company propose to do away with all these accumulating expenses and profits by placing themselves in the position of agents between the producer and consumer and employing special agents of great experience in all the best Tea growing districts during the gathering and curing season, to select the chicest crops, and ship them directly to us.

The object being not to see at how loss an advertised price we can furnish unknown mixtures and impurities, but to obtain the best Teas and Coffees grown, in their freshest, purest and most natural state, and distribute them among consumers for the smallest possible commisthem among consumers for the smallest possible commis sion over the actual net cash cost. An advance of three to five cents a pound being sufficient on our immense sales to repay us.

And we will distribute among the great masses through out the country a quality of goods heretofore enjoyed only by those able to pay the enormous prices of our large first class city retail dealers, and, which have never heretofore found their way into smaller towns at any price.

The great majority of Tea drinkers will experience new pleasures and benefit in drinking our Teas, which will always prove unifortaly pure, sweet and delicious.

Especial consideration should be attached to the following important fact—

We Never Buy any Stained or Damaged Teas. And none are ever allowed in our store, under any circumstances; so that our cheapest goods are all pure and good, and warranted to give satisfaction, although not so cheap as our best grades, which will, with a smaller quantity, make a finer flavored and stronger cup of Tea.

We are receiving and opening large invoices of new crop Black Teas of the finest first pickings, from the best Tea Farms in the celebrated Foochow District.

Also large lines of fresh, new, undolored Japan Teas of peculiarly brilliant flavors, and a full variety and immense stock of Green Teas from the Moyune Districts, all of which have been carefully selected expressly for this Company, with a particular regard to their choice rich, full, and delicate flavors, and delicious drinking qualities. We are selling these goods at the following SCALE OF PRICES.

Our Coffee Department Is very extensive, probably the largest in this country, and will prove attractive to lovers of this article in its good old fashioned, rich, aromatic strength and flavor. A large percentrge of the Coffee brought to this market, or a number of years past, is picked green, and the pods opened by artificial heat. This is never so good as that which ripens naturally.

Our Coffee buyers are experienced experts, who thoroughly understand this, and, examining most of the Coffees imported, select only the naturally ripened for us,

We are roasting our Coffees on a new principle, which renders them particularly sure, all acidity being removed. renders them particularly pure, all acidity being removed by our process of cooking it, enabling persons now to take Coffee who have hitherto been obliged to discontinue its

Poetry. WOULD 1?

Do you think if I'd a baby, That I'd let him pull toy hair? Do you think I'd put on collars Just to let him soil and tear? Do you think I'd call it pretty When it bites its little toe? Yet I have known some silly mothers

With their babies do just so. Do you think I'd set him cryin Just to see his cunning frown? Do you think I'd set him walking Just to see him tumble down? Would I call my baby pretty, When he'd neither teeth nor hair? Yet I've known some silly mothers,

With their babies, think they are. Would I buy him drums and rattles, Just to hear him make a crash? Would I watch him most delighted Break my mirror all to smash? Would I smother him in flannels, Just because his voice was low? Dose him up in bella donna?

Silly mothers treat them so. Would I think his brow Byronic, Just because it was so bare? And its head Napoleonic In its shape, though minus the hair? Would I trace the marks of genius In his eyebrows, arched and low? Yet I've known some silly mothers,

Would I think my baby destined To become a man of men. And to govern and control them By the might of sword or pen? I dare say these noisy babies Play the very deuce-I know, And I've seen the wisest women, With their babies, think just so.

With their babies, think just so.
